INTRODUCTION

We're all busy people, but without being prepared we are drastically decreasing our chances of success, whether that is a weight loss goal, a performance goal or simply a health goal.

Not having time to prep our healthy meals means we are more likely to reach for that fast food lunch or convenience store snack. Those of you who came to my seminar will know that we talked about this being a “rough” but really useful guide to get started with meal planning.

MEAL PLANNING TIPS & COOKING TIMELINE

MEAL PLANNING TIPS

1

Plan by looking at the week ahead and decide which days/ meals you will need to prep for.

2

Use the weekly meal planner and shopping list to plan out your meals and shopping for the week ahead.

3

Go grocery shopping with your shopping list, don't buy anything that is not on the list.

4

Cook your meals and prep any other ingredients necessary for the week ahead.

5

Store your prepped meals and ingredients in the fridge until required.

COOKING TIMELINE

1. STARCHES

Start by cooking up your grains like rice or potato. You can use these as a base or add as sides to salads or lighter snacks. Allocate at least 20-50 mins for this; cooking time will vary depending on the grain and size of the batch.

2. PROTEIN

In the meantime, you can start preparing your protein. Start marinating your meats, fish or tofu, then either bake, fry or roast. This can take 20-60 mins depending on the protein choice.

3. VEGETABLES

Prep your veggies by cutting, chopping and washing them. Ideally have three containers, first one for chopped veg that you can use for snacks. The second container can be used for finely chopped veg that can be used for wraps or salads. The finally the third container can be used for vegetables that will need to be cooked (they can also be swapped for frozen).

4. SNACKS

Now it's time to make some healthy snacks, such as protein bars, energy balls of muffins.

5. CONDIMENTS

If there are any sauces, dressings or dips on your menu, this is the time to make them. You can also buy these, but remember to always check labels for any hidden ingredients. Condiments can add a lot of flavor to your meals, and they're perfect to use with cold or warm dishes.

6. FRUIT

Most fruits like berries or apples don't need to be prepped, but if you have mango or pineapple, you can cut it into pieces and store in a container. Remember though....these are higher in fructose, so should be eaten sparingly and ideally only when training.

MEAL PREP TIPS

1

Start by cooking meals you are already familiar with.

2

Gather a list of your favorite recipes, ones that are simple and tasty, one's you can make time and time again.

3

Look for recipes that can be batch cooked or easily doubled, so that you can use leftovers for lunches.

4

Look for recipes that ingredients you already have in your cupboard.

5

Keep your meals simple by keeping them up to 4-5 ingredients.

6

Don't keep your prepped meals for longer than 3-4 days.

7

Make sure you have a good selection of reusable containers, preferably microwave and dishwasher safe.

8

When your fruit or veg start to get very ripe, chop them up, freeze and use for smoothies, soups or stews.
